- Our father loved nature
- He began to question why this wonderful fertiliser was not producing wonderful crops – what was wrong?
- And.. Why were the woodlands producing so much growth? Even without his help?
- The answer – life!

- The soil was covered and the worms began to reappear
- Foggage Farming – cattle, sheep and pigs are outdoors all year
- Variety of grasses and herbs
- Strong root structure protects the soil further
- Cattle and sheep fertilise as they go
- Low in external inputs and cheap to run

- We farm with the seasons
- Calves and lambs born in the spring when the grass is growing fast again
- But.. All our livestock can be ready for market at the same time
- We sell everything direct – farm shop and farmers’ markets
- Additional hay when needed
- We would struggle if we were supplying the normal supply chains to gain a sustainable price for our meats
